

Correct the mistakes

Correct the mistakes and rewrite the following sentences.

1. The shopkeeper will either return the money or the article.

exchange
exchanging

2. he is poor, he will not pocket this insult.

As Though

3. Ram was a naughty boy who with his classmates.

often quarreled
was often quarreling

4. Women are said to be fond of flattery; they are unaware of the shortfalls inherent in this weakness.

may be
maybe

Correct the mistakes

5. Because you insist my going there, I shall do so.

at
on

6. Chandra Gupta, the founder of the Gupta Empire, for a pretty long period.

rolled ruled

7. An ideal student works hard, his parents and teachers and has a good character.

respect
respects

8. While I was having a walk in the park early in the morning, I stumbled upon a snake I took for a string.

who
which

Correct the mistakes

9. All the members of Lal's family his youngest son are well-settled in their respective fields.

exempt

except expect

10. India, Pakistan and Bangladesh
the Indian subcontinent.

constitute

constitutes

Answers

1. The shopkeeper will either return the money or exchange the article.
2. Though he is poor, he will not pocket this insult.
3. Ram was a naughty boy who often quarreled with his classmates.
4. Women are said to be fond of flattery; maybe they are unaware of the shortfalls inherent in this weakness.

Correct the mistakes

5. Because you insist on my going there, I shall do so.
6. Chandra Gupta, the founder of the Gupta Empire, ruled for a pretty long period.
7. An ideal student works hard, respects his parents and teachers and has a good character.
8. While I was having a walk in the park early in the morning, I stumbled upon a snake which I mistook for a string.
9. All the members of Lal's family except his youngest son are well-settled in their respective fields.
10. India, Pakistan and Bangladesh constitute the Indian subcontinent.