

So, such, very, too: grammar exercise

Complete the following sentences.

1. It was hot that we didn't go out.

so
such
very

2. She is old to work.

very
too
so

3. The tea was hot.

too
very
Either could be used here

4. The milk was good that we couldn't stop drinking it.

very
too
so

So, such, very, too: grammar exercise

5. It's terrible weather.

such

so

Either could be used here

6. She is looking older.

so

so much

Either could be used here

7. It was warm when we were in Vienna.

very

so

8. He spoke fast that nobody could understand.

so

very

too

So, such, very, too: grammar exercise

9. Would you be kind as to tell me the time?

so
very
too

10. He is a intelligent child.

very
so
too

Answers

1. It was so hot that we didn't go out.
2. She is too old to work.
3. The tea was too / very hot. (Too can be used to talk about a negative extreme. Very is also possible here.)
4. The milk was so good that we couldn't stop drinking it.
5. It is such terrible weather.
6. She is looking so much older. (Before a comparative form we use so much, not so.)

So, such, very, too: grammar exercise

7. It was very warm when we were in Vienna. (To simply give information, we use very.)

8. He spoke so fast that nobody could understand.

9. Would you be so kind as to tell me the time?

10. He is a very intelligent child.