

Though and although - grammar exercise

Although and though are interchangeable. Though is more common in a less formal style.

Complete the following sentences using though or although.

An example is given below.

I tried my level best. I couldn't win the first rank.

Although/though I tried my level best, I couldn't win the first rank.

1. .... my grandmother is very old, she can still read without glasses.

Even if

However

Although

2. .... he was very tired, he completed the work.

Though

Although

Either could be used here

3. .... the policemen ran fast, they couldn't catch the thief.

Though

Even if

Though and although - grammar exercise

As though

4. .... they gave him the best medical care, they could not save his life.

Please select 2 correct answers

However

Though

Although

5. .... he left home early, he arrived late.

Please select 2 correct answers

Although

Though

Either could be used here

6. .... she had the required qualifications, she did not get the job.

As though

Even if

Although

Though and although - grammar exercise

7. .... they are rich, they lead simple lives.

Please select 2 correct answers

Though

Although

As though

8. .... she was ill, she went to work.

Though

However

Despite

9. .... our team played well, they could not win the championship.

Though

However

Despite

10. .... my grandmother can't read or write, she is wiser than most people.

Though and although - grammar exercise

Though

Even if

Despite

Answers

1. Although my grandmother is very old, she can still read without glasses.
2. Though he was very tired, he completed the work.
3. Though the policemen ran fast, they couldn't catch the thief.
4. Although they gave him the best medical care, they could not save his life.
5. Although he left home early, he arrived late.
6. Although she had the required qualifications, she did not get the job.
7. Though they are rich, they lead simple lives.
8. Though she was ill, she went to work.
9. Though our team played well, they could not win the championship.
10. Though my grandmother can't read or write, she is wiser than most people.