

Infinitives with and without to

The infinitive usually takes the marker to. However, in some cases, it is used without to.

Can you use infinitives correctly? Test your understanding with this grammar exercise.

1. I would rather wait

to wait waiting

2. You ought your ways.

mend
to mend

3. She didn't anything.

say
to say

4. She was told the room.

leave
to leave

Infinitives with and without to

5. You had better what she wants.

see to see

6. I don't let my children up late.

stay
to stay

7. I didn't see him in.

come
to come

8. We both heard her that she was leaving.

say
to say

9. Did you feel the earth?

move

Infinitives with and without to

to move

10. Can you help me the car?

load

to load

Either could be used here

Answers

1. I would rather wait.
2. You ought to mend your ways.
3. She didn't say anything.
4. She was told to leave the room.
5. You had better see what she wants.
6. I don't let my children stay up late.
7. I didn't see him come in.
8. We both heard her say that she was leaving.
9. Did you feel the earth move?

Infinitives with and without to

10. Can you help me load / to load the car?

11. I was made to wait.