

Though, Although, Despite, In Spite Of, And However

Fill in the blanks with an appropriate conjunction, preposition or transitional adverb. Choose your answers from the given options.

1. We went out the rain.

despite

in spite of

Either could be used here

2. She passed the test having a bad teacher.

although

however

despite

All of the above

3. She passed the test she had a bad teacher.

although

despite

in spite of

however

Though, Although, Despite, In Spite Of, And However

4. I had a headache, I enjoyed the party very much.

Please select 2 correct answers

Though

Although

However

Either 'though' and 'although'

5. It was a good restaurant, expensive.

though

however

despite

6. The train was late; I managed to arrive on time.

however

though

although

despite

Though, Although, Despite, In Spite Of, And However

7. the train was late, I managed to reach on time.

Although

Despite

However

8. They managed to finish the job
..... there was no one to help them.

although

however

despite

in spite of

9. They finished the job the fact that they had no one to help them.

Please select 2 correct answers

despite

in spite of

although

Either despite or in spite of

Though, Although, Despite, In Spite Of, And However

10. tired, he went on working.

- Though
- although
- despite
- in spite of

11. hard I tried, I could not solve the puzzle.

- Though
- However
- Despite
- In spite of

12. trying hard, I could not solve the puzzle.

- Despite
- However
- Though
- Although

Though, Although, Despite, In Spite Of, And However

Answers

1. We went out despite the rain.
2. She passed the test in spite of / despite having a bad teacher.
3. She passed the test though / although she had a bad teacher.
4. Though / although I had a headache, I enjoyed the party very much.
5. It was a good restaurant, though expensive.
6. The train was late; however I managed to arrive on time.
7. Though the train was late, I managed to reach on time.
8. They managed to finish the job although there was no one to help them.
9. They finished the job despite the fact that they had no one to help them.
10. Though tired, he went on working.
11. However hard I tried, I could not solve the puzzle.
12. Despite / in spite of trying hard, I could not solve the puzzle.